

Family Hammock

Bossanova bordeaux BSH18-7

Family hammock Bossanova is from Brazil, a country known for its traditional hammock art. The macramé-nets between fabric and suspension are handcrafted. Not only are they beautiful, their large number of suspension cords also contributes to an even better distribution of weight. The decorative fringes on both sides of the lying surface are considered a status symbol among Brazilians. Bossanovais made of pure, high-quality cotton. Thanks to a special diagonally flexible weave it follows the contours of your body, thus making it exceptionally comfortable.

Pure Cotton

Pure cotton is a material that is very soft to the touch, comfortable, tearproof and durable. Its long fibres give colours room to shine.

Traditional fringes

The hand-woven fringes on both sides of the lying surface are the trademark characteristic of Brazilian hammocks. The “Veranda” tradition is kept alive especially in the workshops in the northeast of Brazil.

Brazilian macramé

The traditional Brazilian net artfully connects lying surface and suspension with each other. Apart from being aesthetic, macramé evenly distributes the body weight to the suspension cords on both sides, thus guaranteeing exceptional comfort.

Stretchable lying surface

Thanks to a special weaving technique, the lying surface is diagonally flexible, which is why the hammock adapts to the body exceptionally well, offering a unique kind of comfort.

High number of suspension cords

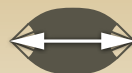

Additional comfort thanks to a multitude of suspension cords that distribute the weight equally to the cloth of the hammock and hence give a unique feeling of agravity.
